

Katherine Burchill | Costume Designer

Katherine is passionate about the artistry of costume design and loves to support storytelling and create a depth of meaning via the medium of clothing. She is highly skilled, both design wise and technically, and has a vast knowledge at her fingertips from years of study and working in the industry. She has traversed theatre, television, commercials, and film - from those with limited budgets to the very high end, from modern day to period to fantasy. She is equally as happy trawling second hand stores for that enigmatic garment to describe a character as she is heading an extensive skilled team of cutters, dyers, printers, jewellers, embroiderers, break down and armourers to assist her in realising her visions.
